

Mart Kenney Presents His Western Gentlemen At Plumber-Meds' Ball

Engineers, Medicos Plan Memorable Entertainment

By M. B. P.

Tonight at 10 p.m., the Plumber-Meds' Ball, one of the most important social functions of the year, will get under way, with Mart Kenney, now almost its permanent maestro, providing the dance music. Kenney has always been very popular in past years, not only at McGill but also at Queen's and the University of Toronto where he has played at numerous formals.

Besides the orchestra, Mart will present Judy Richards, Art Hallman, and a remarkably fine vocal quartette. This band's unique arrangements and smooth melodic style, have made them one of the foremost dance orchestras of the Dominion. Kenney has recorded a great many records for both Victor and Bluebird and has been featured over the C.B.C. on regular broadcast series.

Corsages will be forbidden again this year, but flowers as in past years will be distributed to the dancers.

The architects are already hard at work with the decorations which promise to be distinctive and of particular Medical and Engineering interest. Kay Chard, who is in charge of decorating the Armoury this year, has made an appeal to anyone who can spare the time and the effort during the day to come and give her a hand with the work.

As has been previously announced, uniforms may be worn on the dance floor, this including both C.O. T.C. and U.A.T.C. uniforms. It is also to be noted that the officers' mess will be open to patrons and committee members only.

The dancing will last from 10 p.m. to 3 a.m. except for a short intermission during which refreshments will be served.

The patrons for tonight's dance include: Dr. and Mrs. F. Cyril James, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. J. M. Morris, Major and Mrs. O. B. Rexford, Major and Mrs. J. C. Hope, Major and Mrs. G. F. Savage, Major and Mrs. E. de L. Greenwood, Flight Lieut. G. A. Firby, Capt. W. K. W. Baldwin, Dean and Mrs. J. J. O'Neill, Prof. and Mrs. E. Brown, Prof. and Mrs. J. U. MacEwan, Prof. and Mrs. John Bland, Mr. R. Stewart Willis, Mr. P. A. Cain and Miss Janet Williamson from Queens University, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Cowley from the University of Toronto, Dr. and Mrs. H. Selye, Dr. and Mrs. D. Slater Lewis, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. L. Browne, Dr. and Mrs. K. T. MacFarlane, Dr. and Mrs. G. Miller, Mr. Claude Vipond from Queens University, and Mr. George Colman from the University of Toronto.

Dalhousie University Announces Nazification

Halifax. (C.U.P.)—The Dal Gazette, alias the Dalhousie Zeitung, startled its reading public last week when it appeared under "German" management.

After a successful German assault on the Atlantic coast, the occupation of Halifax and other Nova Scotian centres, the invaders took over the seaboard campus and assumed charge of the weekly paper.

It was all a scheme to awake the students from their well-known lethargy. A similar issue was put out by the Toronto Varsity last year.

Salvation from A Text Book or A Half-dollar

Prisoners Stress Value Of Student Aid

By D.B.

A few more dollars may uplift the souls of many in depressing prison camps.

On behalf of the students of China and Greece and all the destitute peoples of the world whom the I.S.S. helps, it has been decided to extend the campaign for one more day.

To us these students and prisoners have written. Here is an extract from the letter of a British officer, a prisoner now in Germany. He writes, "Thanks for the books. I wish to treat as a loan any expenses you incur, on my behalf, for as a student after the last war I helped raise funds for student relief and know that every pound will find good use. Need I say that all of us here are most grateful for your offer of assistance." A Greek student writes "I should (Continued on Page Four)

U.B.C. Enjoys Short Holiday

Respite Owing to Traffic Tie-up, Fuel Shortage

Vancouver (CUP)—Students at the University of British Columbia have been treated to a five-day vacation due to a west coast traffic tie-up. A severe fuel shortage, along with the worst traffic snarl in years, caused a bus shortage.

U.B.C. students are usually allotted seven buses to transport them to the campus, located on the outskirts of Vancouver. Gas rationing, has reduced the number of private cars used by students, and has consequently increased the demands on bus service.

It was also not deemed practical to keep the mammoth heating plant of the University open for a small number of students. Several University buildings are likely to be closed for some time. However, lectures were expected to resume at the end of this week.

Along with the fuel shortage comes the possibility that bus service will be staggered. As a result, students will be required to attend 8:10 a.m. lectures, which carry on till 9:30 a.m.

Pre Meds Hear Dr. M. Prados

Sleigh Ride Planned for February 5

The Pre-Medical Society began its activities for the second half of this season yesterday afternoon when the executive presented Dr. M. Prados as guest speaker. Plans were made for the sleigh ride which will take place on Friday, February 5.

Dr. Prados reminded the students that the greatest change to which they must adapt themselves when they enter the medical faculty is that they no longer study objective subjects only, but begin to deal with the care and welfare of human beings. He showed that where plants live in a biological world, animals combined with it the world of objects. Man incorporates more over the "sense of values."

A doctor must approach his subject from these three points of view.

The Executive of the Society announced that they would like to say that the speech delivered by Dr. Prados is but a beginning to the programme which they have prepared this session.

Situation of Summer Jobs Is Clarified

Scientists, Engineers Get Work Permits Soon

Kingston. (CUP)—The following letter, which appeared in the Queen's Journal on Tuesday, may serve to clarify the issue concerning summer employment for science and engineering students. The first letter was written to the Editor of the Journal in explanation of the second, which was an Ottawa reply to a request for information in regards to obtaining employment permits. Students in science and engineering will find them self explanatory:

Dear Sir:
Herewith is a letter that I feel will be of interest to many engineering students. It is a reply to a letter of mine in which I asked for a permit to look for work.

Last year the Bureau published a list, similar to the one mentioned, that was forwarded to our Employment Service. I interpret the letter to indicate that the same procedure will be followed again, and that permits will be handled locally either by a local Bureau representative or by our Employment Service.

This last paragraph is only my idea—every man to his own interpretation.

Yours truly,

J. S. WRONG.

Economic Analysts Method Considered

Philosophers to Hear Kierstead On Tuesday

The Philosophical Society will meet next Tuesday evening, when Professor Kierstead of the Faculty of Commerce will read a paper on some philosophical considerations which are important to the economist.

Professor Kierstead will deal with several points about which there has been a certain amount of misunderstanding: the method of economic analysis; the alleged acceptance by economists of a utilitarian psychology in its crudest form, and the social philosophy which is implicit in any economic theory.

Considerable time will probably be devoted to this last point, because Professor Kierstead feels that, while the economic theorist is necessarily pre-occupied with the material constituent of the social good, the basic philosophy of our welfare economics needs to be carefully understood and reconsidered.

Second Radio Workshop Play Broadcast Monday

"Fantasy in Foodland" Will Support Nutrition Campaign

The McGill Radio Workshop will broadcast for the second time in its short history next Monday, February 1, at 7:15 p.m. over Station CBM. The story, called "Fantasy in Foodland", is in support of the current National Nutrition Drive. It was also announced last night, by the executive that casting for the next production which will also be broadcast over CBM the following Monday, February 8, will be held on Sunday night, January 31, at 7:30 p.m. in the Union Music Room.

The play to be presented next Monday night has been written by Allan Thomson, and the cast includes Dorothy Hopton, Anne Hughes, Griffith Brewer, Victor Goldbloom, Duncan Cameron, Violet McCammon and Blanche Lemco. It will be produced and directed by the author, with the assistance of Charles Wassermann.

Commerce and Law Announce Dance Plans

Sleigh-ride Is Included in Cost Of Exclusive Party

On Friday, February 5, the School of Commerce and the Faculty of Law will hold a joint Sleigh Ride and Dance. The sleigh ride will start at the Union at 8:00 p.m. and will proceed to the Chalet atop Mount Royal. Following the ride, students will be brought back to the Union where music will be provided up to 1:30 a.m. Tickets may be purchased from all class Presidents and from the executive of the Commerce Undergraduate Society at $1.50 per couple, tax included.

Originally scheduled to be held in Purvis Memorial Hall, this event marks the first in a series of activities intended to promote friendship and understanding between Commerce and Law students. The University authorities did not permit the use of Purvis Hall, because of the existing regulation prohibiting the use of an academic building for social affairs.

The present rate of sale of tickets indicates that a sell-out is highly probable. The reason for this is owing to the fact that neither Commerce or Law have held their own social affairs for many years. Students are advised to purchase their tickets early since the number to be sold is limited. Because of this limitation in the number of tickets the sale will be confined to Commerce (Continued on Page Four)

Historians Will Honor Dr. Koht

Banquet Planned For Tuesday February 9

On Tuesday, February 9, the Men's Historical Club and the R.V.C. Historical Clubs will meet jointly to hold a banquet in honour of Dr. Halvdan Koht, former Foreign Minister in the Norwegian government and an eminent historian.

Dr. Koht has been invited to McGill by the departments of History, Sociology and Economics to deliver a series of lectures throughout February to all students studying in those departments. All his lectures will deal with the modern history of the Scandinavian countries, and in particular with his own, the following topics being included in his schedule: "Democracy in Norway," "The Development of National Consciousness" and "How Norway Tried to Avoid the War."

All those wishing to attend the banquet are asked to contact either Executive before next Wednesday.

Newman Club Begins Annual Retreat Sunday

The annual retreat of the Newman Club will begin this Sunday at 10:00 a.m. at the Sacred Heart Convent.

Reverend Hector Daly, national Chaplain for the Catholic Canadian Youth Movement, will be the retreat master. Until recently connected with Loyola College in Montreal, he has done much to promote the Catholic Youth Union in Canada.

A circular outlining the program of the retreat has been sent to all members. Further information can be obtained from any member of the Executive.

ISS Campaign Totals $660

Drive Continues; Theologs in Lead With 120%

On the evening of its third day, the International Student Service campaign had reached 66% of its objective of $1,000 at McGill. The Theologs have attained 120% of their goal of fifty dollars by subscribing a total of $61. Engineering, including Architecture, comes second with 96%, while the School for Teachers are close behind with 92%. The other faculties are listed below.

The campaign on the "lower" campus is being extended till today. In Medicine and Dentistry, because of examinations and general difficulty in contacting students, the campaign will continue until the middle of next week.

A check for $100 was received from W. M. Birks, a governor of McGill, and a member of the Canadian Committee of the I.S.S. Members of the various faculties will be solicited in the course of the next few days.

Here are the detailed reports from the various faculties:
THEOLOGY has donated $61, or 122% of its objective of $50. Coming from about forty students, the average donation is about $1.50.

ENGINEERING comes within 9 percent of their goal, having donated over $44. R.V.C., ARTS and SCIENCE, together have a total of over $300, or 65 percent of their objective of $350. The SCHOOL for TEACHERS report $23.10 to date, or 92 percent of their goal of $25.

THE GRADUATE NURSES have collected about $7.00 to date; while the SOCIAL WORKERS' campaign is just getting underway.

Reports are still to come from Commerce, Law, Medicine and Dentistry. However, first year Medicine, which only started its campaign yesterday, has collected $21 from forty students, with seventy-five students yet not canvassed.

Douglas and Currie Announce Resignations

Newman, Spinney, Clarkson Are Appointed Successors

It was made public yesterday by McGill's Board of Governors that two of its members have resigned from their positions in its ranks because of the pressure of war duties. They are Dr. Lewis W. Douglas, former Principal of the University, and Colonel George Currie, deputy minister of National Defence. In their stead have been appointed three new members, Messrs. John Newman, George Spinney and Ross Clarkson.

Newman President of M.G.H.

The new members of the Board are all in executive positions in Montreal. Mr. Newman is President of the Montreal General Hospital, and has been President of the Verdun Protestant Hospital, Governor of the Children's Memorial Hospital, and Director of the Boys' Farm and Training Centre at Shawbridge.

Spinney President of Bank of Montreal

Mr. Spinney was only recently appointed to be President of the Bank of Montreal. He is also a member of the executive committee of the Children's Memorial Hospital, and for some time has been working for the Government in Ottawa as Chairman of the executive committee of the National War Finance Committee, having played an important part in the organization of the last Victory Loan Campaign.

Clarkson, Manager of Royal Trust

The other appointee, Mr. Ross Clarkson, holds the post of Assistant General Manager of the Royal Trust Company of Montreal. He has been president of the Canadian Club and of the Board of Trade in the city. As a leading industrialist he has been closely connected with the McGill Associates, a group of business and professional men formed with the object of establishing a greater community of interest between the University and the business sections of Montreal. He is at present Chairman of the business committee of this organization.

Dr. Douglas, one of the retiring members of the Board of Governors, was Principal and Vice-Chancellor of McGill prior to the appointment of the present Principal in 1939 and has since held the positions of President of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, Assistant Lend-Lease Expediter for the United States Government, and, most recently, Chairman of the War Shipping Administration, of which he is the first holder.

The confident expectation that both Dr. Douglas and Col. Currie will return to serve the university after the war and the lapse of their present responsibilities was expressed by Dr. James in his speech announcing the changes.

American Armed Forces Need More Blood in 1943

(OWI)—The United States Army and Navy have asked the American Red Cross to procure 4,000,000 pints of blood during 1943, more than three times the amount obtained from volunteer donors at Red Cross centres last year, Chairman Norman H. Davis reported.

The Army and Navy surgeons general who made the request asked that weekly donations of blood be increased immediately to at least 70,000 pints, with increases thereafter as required to reach the goal. The request dwarfs the total of 1,300,000 pints obtained in 1942.

Stating that the Army and Navy request for 4,000,000 pints of blood proves the efficiency of plasma in treating burns, wounds, and traumatic shock, Davis called on the public for "even greater support" of the donation program during the coming year.

Story Told of The Resurgence Of the Hopeless

Cosmos Rise to Respectability Shown by Expansion

By P.R.C.V.H.

Three years ago there was a small, evil, and thoroughly deceitful group upon the campus that hid their villainous activities under the name "Cosmopolitan Club". They never met in the Union, and indeed, as far as anyone knew, they very seldom met at all. Fortunately they were a very small group, numbering only thirty members, although, if one is to believe the account of them in the annual, they were "one of the biggest clubs on the campus".

However, everyone regarded them with the suspicion and distrust that they so well deserved, and it was common knowledge upon the campus that they were nothing but a mob of communists and rabid peace-mongers hiding under a noble list of aims and objectives. Indeed, some few actually did suspect the real intention for which the club was formed, the laying of a groundwork for the invasion of Canada from Europe and the West Indies.

However, this is of the past, and by now the invasion and occupation of McGill has already taken place and the invaders have firmly consolidated (Continued on Page Four.)

Our Colleagues

We note with interest and approval a guest editorial in the Queen's Editorial, from the pen of Michael O'Mara, Editor of the Toronto Varsity. Speaking of the rapid advance of the Journal in the ranks of college newspapers, O'Mara predicted that the Queen's paper would join the mere twosome of Canadian college dailies within five years. We join the Varsity in the hope that our Kingston colleague will attain that status after the war. We quote, "For these papers (Daily and Varsity) will not regard it as a rival, but as a much-needed and powerful collaborator in a struggle which will still be fought long after this war is over. That is the struggle all members of the C.U.P. have fought consistently — to publicize properly the work that universities do, and the sometime over-looked merit of their contribution to the material and intellectual welfare of the community."

The Canadian University Press, a very juvenile organization, is now struggling to maintain and consolidate its position, until time of peace shall give it the financial and moral support of the student bodies, which it relies upon. But C.U.P. can certainly be no stronger than its weakest link. The Daily, located in the Central region, and published five times a week, is inevitably a key link in the transcontinental chain. So it is of the utmost importance not only to McGill students, but to the whole C.U.P. organization, that this paper be adequately staffed.

This same week, we note with apprehension that the Brown University Herald has ceased publication for the duration. Commenting on this loss to college journalism, the Union College "Concordensis" says, "It can happen here." The same applies with no less force to the McGill Daily.

Accordingly, on Monday morning we are starting a mid-season drive for increased staff. At the same time, we will publish a form on the back page which students are asked to fill out and hand in. It consists of a dotted-line opportunity to criticize or commend the Daily. We sincerely hope that the student body will co-operate with us in our attempt to give the campus a better newspaper.

New Governors

The Board of Governors of McGill University has accepted the resignations of Dr. Lewis Douglas and Colonel George Currie and chosen Mr. Ross Clarkson of the Royal Trust Company, Mr. John Newman, president of the Montreal General Hospital, and Mr. George Spinney of the Bank of Montreal to replace them.

Dr. Lewis Douglas was formerly Principal of the university, and was succeeded by Principal James, while Colonel Currie is well known in business circles.

It is not generally realized how important the Board of Governors is. It is its duty to look after the administration and finances and to see that in the face of financial difficulties the University is able to carry on. The position entails a great deal of time and effort and it is indeed with pleasure and gratitude that we welcome Messrs. Clarkson, Newman and Spinney to these responsible positions.

The board of governors has amply expressed its gratitude to Dr. Douglas and

Col. Currie in a resolution passed at a recent meeting: "The Board of Governors of McGill University in accepting the resignation of Col. Currie and Dr. Douglas, wishes to record its appreciation of their services to the University during past years."

Fantasy in Foodland

This is the title of the Radio Workshop's first broadcast for the Canadian Nutrition Campaign. From what we have heard it will be something of a novelty in this hackneyed field. It is a sparkling and original fantasy written by Allan Thomson and using original incidental music composed by Bill Munroe. The Workshop has been rehearsing the dramatic portion of the show while the glee club has been working on the musical part. Group rehearsals will take place on Saturday at the studio when the whole program will be co-ordinated and put on the microphone. Rupert Caplan, well known CBC producer will probably put in appearance at the studio to scout for talent and offer his suggestion and advice.

Was Charlie McCarthy Ever Born, Or Did He Sprout? FBI Must Know

Hollywood, Jan. 20.—Somewhere in these United States there must be a kindling old couple who would like to know the whereabouts of their chip.

At any rate, their offshoot is desperately pining for them. He is the well-known radio star, Charlie McCarthy, whose heart was splintered this week when he discovered that he had been left on Edgar Bergen's doorstep (along with the firewood) years ago, and is only a foundling.

On the Chase and Sanborn program this week (Jan. 17), Charlie asked Bergen for his birth certificate (the FBI demands it) in order that he might work in an aircraft plant. Bergen was forced to admit he had none. Now the hunt is on.

The little fellow is lumbering around town ringing doorbells, advertising in agony columns and examining municipal records to prove that the sap runs blue in his veins.

Charlie, who was rejected by his draft board because he had a wooden leg, is extremely eager to work in a defense plant. It seems he is an expert on plywood.

Friends of McCarthy have asked that anyone with a clue to the McCarthy family tree, communicate such information to NBC. Charlie is reportedly beaten to a pulp. He threatens, if his search fails, to go out and get plastic.

Meanwhile the ashen-faced Charlie says bravely "I shall pursue a relentless search. I remain cut to the heart but unbought."

Bette Davis in "Dodsworth" on "Screen Guild Players" February 1

Nostalgic is the word for "Dodsworth," the next presentation on "Screen Guild Players" with Bette Davis, Walter Huston and Nan Sunderland, Monday, February 1. (WABC-CBS, 10.00 to 10.30 p.m., EWT).

It brings back memories of the Turbulent Twenties when money flowed freely and Europe was the gay playground of the "smart" international set.

Written by Sinclair Lewis, "Dodsworth" achieved first fame as a best-selling novel. Later, it was made into a stage play and after that, it emerged from Hollywood as an outstanding film.

Bette Davis is heard in the role created by Mary Astor on the screen, while Walter Huston plays a return engagement in the part of Sam Dodsworth. Nan Sunderland—Huston's wife in real life—portrays Fran, Dodsworth's shallow wife who is bored with the stuffiness of small town life. Ruth Chatterton was Fran in the film version of "Dodsworth."

Millions of readers and theater-goers are familiar with the story of "Dodsworth" and how Sam finds promise of lasting happiness with a charming and understanding woman who was an expatriate but who displays complete sympathy with Sam's own American way of life. ("The Wife Takes A Flyer" previously announced is not heard at this time on the "Screen Guild Players" program).

Hour-Long Program on Four Networks Salutes President on His Birthday

America will salute President Roosevelt on his birthday with an hour-long radio program in which all four major networks will participate. With pickups from various parts of the country and the Hawaiian Islands, the broadcast will be heard Saturday, January 30 (NBC, 11.15 p.m., EWT).

From the President's Birthday Ball at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York, Clifton Fadiman, of "Information Please," as master of ceremonies, will open the program, introducing "Four Freedoms," a dramatic montage written and produced by Norman Corwin; Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, who will speak; and Sammy Kaye and his orchestra, who will play "Happy Birthday, Mr. President."

Other features of the program will include songs by the Great Lakes Naval Training Station choir of 200 voices; Sgt. Gene Autry, U.S. Air Corps, Luke Field, Phoenix, Ariz., who will solo with the Melody Ranch Group and orchestra in the Presidential favorite, "Yellow Rose of Texas," and "Army Air Corps March," and participate in a short talk with Capt. Christy Mathewson, son of the famous baseball pitcher, now instructing Chinese cadets at Luke Field; a 40-piece feminine band and octette from the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, Fort Des Moines, Ia.; a comedy skit by NBC Hollywood stars; Artie Shaw and his band from Honolulu, and two favorite Presidential tunes, "Home on the Range" and "Anchors Aweigh" from NBC Hollywood.

The program, titled "America Salutes the President's Birthday," will conclude with "The Star-Spangled Banner," co-sponsored by the production are NBC, CBS, Blue and Mutual networks.

Toscanini Plays Star Spangled Banner

Saturday, January 30—Friday, February 5

Arturo Toscanini conducts the NBC Symphony Orchestra Sunday, January 31 (CBM, 5.00 to 6.00 p.m., EWT), in "Hymn of the Nations," a rare Verdi work, probably never before played in America. The work will be intensified by Maestro Toscanini's interpolation of "The Star-Spangled Banner," which he feels the composer himself would add if he were alive today.

Change in Time for the Show Is On:

Starting Feb. 3rd the CBC variety presentation from Montreal, THE SHOW IS ON, will be heard at 8.05 p.m. on Wednesdays instead of Fridays as heretofore.

Somewhat a la his namesake Hope in delivery, BOB MARTIN, featured comedian on this fast musical fun-fest, requires (and merits) the listener's undivided attention for full appreciation of his quick wit and humour. Bob's comedy, interwoven with the sprightly melodies of Allan McIver's Orchestra, the smooth rhythm of the Harmonizers and beautiful Dorothy Whyte's vocaling on THE SHOW IS ON, provides one of the most enjoyable half-hours in Canadian radio.

Philharmonic Presents All Beethoven Program

Bruno Walter returns to conduct the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, with the eminent Rudolf Serkin as piano soloist Sunday, January 31, in an all-Beethoven program that includes the great "Emperor" Concerto in E-flat major. (WABC-CBS, 3.00 to 4.30 p.m., EWT).

Ross Pratt Presents a

"Keyboard Concerts" Program

Ross Pratt, young Canadian pianist, who appeared in one of the RVC concerts, is soloist in the "Keyboard Concerts" program Tuesday, January 28. (WABC-CBS, 3.30 to 4.00 P.M., EWT).

Born in Winnipeg, Pratt started his music lessons at the age of five and made his first public appearance four years later. He was awarded a scholarship at the Royal Academy in London and is the winner of five open competition prizes. He made his London debut in 1939, his first New York appearance in 1941.

Pratt plays three old compositions arranged by his teacher Harold Craxton—the Largo from the F minor Concerto by Bach, "The King's Hunt" by John Bull, and "Siciliano and Rigaudon" by an anonymous composer.

The pianist also is heard in Scarlatti's Sonata in G, and Brahms' Variations On A Theme of Paganini.

Theatre Notes

THE MRT'S LATEST

For one week beginning this Saturday evening, the Montreal Repertory Theatre will present its third major production of the year at its Guy Street studio. The play is "Watch on the Rhine," which last season won high acclaim from Broadway critics for its sincere and moving conception. Filmore Sadler will direct a capable cast which promises to add yet another success to the long list of MRT achievements.

"Watch on the Rhine" is the third major triumph to flow from the pen of Lillian Hellman. In 1933 she called forth warm approval for her sullen, stormy "The Children's Hour," and six years later achieved the headlines once again with "The Little Foxes," since becoming an American classic.

Like its two predecessors, "Watch on the Rhine" is a play of powerful conflict, of the weak and oppressed in their fight for emancipation from unwelcome domination. The story concerns the flight from Nazi Germany of an American girl with her democratic German husband and her German-born children. In the haven of her mother's home, they discover and courageously deal with a vicious traitor who attempts and partially succeeds in the destruction of their new-found safety and happiness. Miss Hellman has woven the story into a gripping drama of tense action and clashing ideals. The MRT would seem to have much to offer.

The last of the third series of French Classic Plays presented at the Theatre St. Denis, "La Nouvelle Idole," will be given its closing performance this evening at 8.30. In the penning of this drama, the author, Francois de Curel, has disregarded all conventional rules. He has concentrated on his characters to the extent of omitting almost all plot, and the performance concerns itself with an inner conflict of emotions.

The ideas presented on the subject of science, which is the "nouvelle idole" of the play, are very forceful, the issue at stake being the justification, or otherwise of performing experiments "in anima vili" when such experiments may mean the death of the subject, although humanity at large would benefit. In the first act, which takes place at the home of Albert

Library Utterly Corrupt

By Ed Comment

(This is the fourth of a series of articles by a Varsity staff writer on existing conditions in the University of Toronto and its environs.)

When I visited the University of Toronto Library at about 10.10 a.m. in the morning, one day last week, I was amazed at the openness with which certain corruption was being carried on.

Long lines of students of both sexes were making payments to the librarians. Apparently this is a daily and well-regulated procedure as signs on the desks announce that no payments will be accepted until after 10 o'clock. I was given to understand that a number of male students make regular daily contributions to the maintenance of the women behind the counter.

There are separate "reading" rooms for men and women, although they frequently mingle in the "reference" rooms or loiter about the front door smoking "cigarettes" and carrying on "conversation."

I was told that there are other "reading rooms" scattered about the campus where men and women sit on opposite sides of the room in full sight of each other and even some where no segregation regulations are in force.

In the back of the library are the stacks, which senior students, with the tacit consent of the librarians, are frequently observed entering alone and leaving unaccompanied. "They go in there to search for books," a librarian explained. I jotted this down on my pad and resolved to go and search for books myself sometime.

An even more ominous note is given these practices when it is realized that all persons using the stacks do so with the written consent of their professors. Professors have even been observed using the stacks themselves.

Reading rooms are frequently congested and noisy. The noise of people turning pages and scribbling notes is appalling. I observed with disgust the number of foreign-language books being read.

Effect of actual wartime conditions on the Library can be judged from signs posted about its halls which order all students to take shelter in the men's "reading room" and turn out all lights in case a blackout is called.

McGill Service Cagers Trim R.C.A.F. 57-24 in One-sided Affair

Victory Enables Squad to Retain League Leadership

Eastwood and Evans Shine
As Players Use
Rugby Tactics

By Norm Halford

Spurred on by the largest cheering section they have had this year, McGill Service basketball squad rang up an impressive 57-24 victory over No. 1 Wireless last night to bring them nearer to the coveted championship. Most remarkable fact about this one-sided score was the great improvement made by the Redmen since the last encounter between the two teams, when the Airmen lost by a mere five points.

RUGBY TACTICS

At the beginning of the game, it looked as though the Redmen were going to have their work cut out for them; the boys from the Wireless School were holding their own and sank two baskets before receiving any reply, but finally the McGills got under way. Baskets by Eastwood and Evans started things off and from then on they were never headed, but the game still remained interesting enough as the rough work began. The Redmen were concentrating on Don King, who collected 17 points in their last encounter, but the bug spread and before long the spectators were treated to as fine an exhibition of very close checking, with added shiny and rugby, as has been seen here for a long time. The Airmen took full advantage of their free throws, but every time they scored a point the Redmen charged back, and literally, for a basket.

After their early successes the visitors seemed to lack confidence in themselves, and signs of lack of practice became evident in their ragged passing play as compared with the smooth system used by the Redmen. Occasionally during the half they broke out with some really spectacular play, and Leeds in particular was quite a worry to his opponents, but the McGill men put on a spurt at the most convenient moment and led 34-20 at half-time.

REDS ATTACK

The second half was quite a different story. The imitation football continued and Ned Mahon was fouled out of the game after having contributed five points to the cause, but finally the team got down to business and the Wireless team was held scoreless until about five minutes before the end of the game. Evans and Rosentzweig got their scoring eye gradually and began to pile up the points with some spectacular shooting while the whole team, spurred on by the cheering throng (two coeds, Coach Van Wagner, and Gerry Benjamin) held their opponents completely in check and set up neat plays for each other that had the Airmen in a daze. Finally Wilson recovered enough to sink the first basket of the half for the Airmen and Leeds followed with another but the damage was done.

The brand of basketball played would have made Dr. Naismith turn over in his grave, but the McGill team certainly showed an absolute superiority over their opponents by their close checking and accurate shooting. Actual the only players for the winners who really looked as though they knew what it was all about all the time were Eastwood and Macrae. Although they were not at the top of the scoring list they did their share in the point-getting and played good basketball throughout. The players now feel confident of trimming St. Hubert, their only conquerors thus far, in the return match, and say that the Seniors had better look to their laurels, such as they are.

REDMEN MEET ARMY SEXTET

McGill Marksmen Will Meet M.I.T. Next Month

Hockey Hi-lites

By B. R.

The Sports Dept.'s Rumour Clinic has finally unearthed some facts about the mysterious R.C.A.F. and the equally mysterious meet with M.I.T. However, the powers-that-be in that third-floor room in the Gymnasium refuse to divulge all the secrets until such time as all details are attended to, in particular the selection of the team. Such facts as we have been able to collect follow.

M.I.T. sent a challenge to the McGill C.O.T.C. to resume their rivalry and it was accepted, with a tentative date set as Feb. 20. Candidates for the team have already been chosen, from A Wing, B Wing, and the U.A.T.C., and these will be eliminated as time goes on. Further details will follow when we can get them.

McGill Skiers Hit Trail Again

Beginners Tour Being Staged

This Sunday the M.O.C. will again hold a ski tour in the Laurentians. The trip is scheduled to start at the Val David station upon the arrival of the C.P.R. Sunday morning train. The Club has not planned to follow any particular route, but just to "hit the trail" from one hill to another south of the tracks. This country holds numerous open hills and many long runs such as Vanier's Hill and the long run near Lac Paquin on the Maple Leaf Trail.

Seeing that the trip will be an easy one, the club has expressed the hope that many new faces will be seen on Sunday. The officials of the M.O.C. wish to emphasize the fact that these tours are primarily arranged for the average skier, and any student who has hesitated to go in the past because of his or her ability, has been misinformed or misunderstood the object of the club. The M.O.C. has no closed membership list and each student in McGill is invited to attend the tours. The total distance to be covered this week will not exceed 10 miles and can be cut short at several points.

A lunch of sandwiches should be taken by each individual, as lunch will be eaten on the trail. At meal time a fire or two will be made and hot tea and chocolate served. Tour leaders will have tea pails, etc., but skiers are asked to bring along a cup and a little tea or prepared chocolate if possible. The main object of the M.O.C. in the sponsoring of these tours is to get the student body into the wide open spaces and to familiarize them with the Canadian Laurentians.

Bell's Commandos Set To End Sudden Slump

Air Force and Navy Battle for Top Place In Second Tilt

The McGill C.O.T.C. entry in the National Defence Hockey League will be pulling two ways tonight when another double-header is underway at the Forum. Besides gunning for a Red and White victory over Huntingdon's soldiers, the collegians will be appreciative of an R.C.A.F. triumph over Navy.

FUTURE BRIGHT

Top spot belongs to the Tars, and a defeat here means just that much more to McGill's chances—which are comparatively bright for tonight, inasmuch as the Army's top-flight line of Moe White, Red Doran and Jimmy Peters will be busy helping the senior Q.S.H.L. team up at Cornwall.

The best that Huntingdon can expect from their senior team is the definite promise of speedy Alan Bruce, and the possible help of defenceman Jimmy Galbraith. It will be the first taste of N.D.H.L. stuff for the latter, while Bruce starred with Doran and Peters in one game.

GOOD ODDS FOR MCGILL

This is about the first time since the league opened where it looks comparatively safe to call the winners, McGill over Army, Navy over the Spitfires. The latter are in the same boat as Army, their Senior squad calling on the league-leading Jimmy Planché, Eddy Emberg and Hermy Gruhn for duty in Quebec against Mortons.

They'll also take "Hello" Gagnon along as protection for goal. Coach Wilf Doyle is as busy as the pro-verbial one-armed paperhanger in seeking replacements, most of whom are strangers to him. Joe MacArthur, one from Port Arthur; Bill Hunter, Royals Juniors; Jack Donaldson, Canadiens Juniors; Frank Whibbly of St. Johns, and a couple known only as Robertson and Stack, are candidates.

McGill will again be minus Bruce Crutchfield, whose sore knee forbids his performing. Bruce Ward, however, will be back. The powerful Navy club announce no news, which is good news—for them, meaning they're all on deck.

Theatre Notes

Donnat, a scientist and doctor, we find his wife Louise speaking to her sister Antoinette. From their conversation we learn that Albert has been guilty, as the papers would have it, of infecting cancer virus into his patients, that he is being denounced on all sides, and that his wife, Louise, is in love with a colleague of his, a certain Maurice Cormier who practises psychiatry. During the course of this conversation Antoinette, a young convent girl, who wishes to become a nun comes to see the doctor. Antoinette, being an incurable tubercular case, Donnat felt justified in using her in an experiment on cancer. He produces this disease in her; but quite accidentally, she is cured of her tuberculosis, and the doctor is accused of murder. The act closes with Donnat's offering his wife her liberty.

Donnat, desperate and almost mad, losing faith in science, his god, he inflicts a terrible punishment upon himself, and causes the dread disease to grow in himself. Louise, who hears of this, returns to him, realizing that she loves him and not the "psychologue." In the meantime, Antoinette comes to stay at the doctor's home at the invitation of Louise and tells Donnat at the moment when all his ideals are shattered, that she had known all along what he had done "Je savais ce que vous aviez fait, et je vous benissais. Je voulais me donner aux pauvres en detail, je me suis donne en gros, voila tout!" Thus the play ends on a note of hope.

The performance is excellent, especially on the part of M. Chabrier, and Mmes. Rita Riddex and Janine Sutto. Chabrier, in the second act has a speech which lasts all of 12 minutes, yet the delivery is so natural, and the lines so beautiful, the likening of the scientist looking to science as the plant looks to the sun, the simplicity of the words is so forceful, that the audience forgives time. Rita Riddex and Antoinette Milat offers an excellent contrast one to the other, one the sophisticated woman of the world, the other a naive and ignorant convent girl. A note of comedy is interjected in the second act when Cormier's lab assistant mistakes Louise for one of the psychiatrist's mental cases, and attempts to humour her. Throughout this act much of the then new practise of psychiatry is outlined. On the whole, the play is of a rather sophisticated nature. The dialogue is brilliant, and the French clear and easy to understand.

Mr. J. S. Wrong.
Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of January 16, you will have a permit to seek for summer employment within the next few weeks. Until that time, no student in engineering and science is free to look for summer work.

This Bureau will not place undergraduates in summer employment, but we will help by supplying a list of available employment in essential industries. You will receive your permit to seek work about the same time as this list is made available to you.

Yours truly,

those whose husbands, already employed in the Federal Service, are receiving the cost of living bonus or a salary of $2100 or more. In addition, a living allowance of $30.00 a month is paid to those maintaining a home at more than twenty miles beyond the Ottawa city limits. Promotion and salary increases to $1680 and $1800 are dependent on the increasing value of the employee's services to the Department.

With very few exceptions all vacancies occur at Ottawa and all expenses incurred in travelling to and from the examination centres as well as when reporting for work, must be borne by the applicants.

In view of the continuous nature of the work and the length of time required to train new employees, assignments cannot be considered for part-time employment. Censorship positions are of a temporary nature and are therefore not expected to last longer than for the duration of the war.

An examination for these positions is expected to be held before the close of the university year and students who are interested should forward their applications to the Civil Service Commission as soon as possible. Candidates are requested to fill out new forms as applications already on file with the Civil Service Commission will not be transferred.

Should a sufficient number of successful candidates not be secured as a result of this examination, consideration may be given to students who while failing to make the required 70% on each part of the German examination obtain marks approaching a pass. Experience in the past has shown that such students who seriously apply themselves to this work can, after a probationary period of training, become reliable Examiners. The length of this probationary period varies in individual cases from three weeks to three months. Success depends in all cases on the interest and application shown. Remuneration during the probationary period is the same as for Censorship Examiners. Candidates will please indicate in their applications whether or not they would be interested in employment under these conditions should they fail to make the necessary pass-mark.

their gains. In fact, already they have started three new clubs of their own on the campus, the B.W.I. Society, the U.K. Club and the Polish Club; but still they are not satisfied and still the tentacles of the Cosmopolites are spreading through the campus.

By now they have gathered under their banner some hundred and twenty-five members and their pins are seen everywhere at McGill. Their meetings are no longer secret, and, by dint of careful publicity and propaganda, they have managed to make their name acceptable to the most respectable elements on the campus.

It is now their boast that they have more meetings than any other campus club, that they present the student body with some thirty talks a year by people from all parts of the world, and that no one, no matter what his race, religion or political views is free to act and to speak as he thinks. And still the club increases: if the membership rises for the past month continues until the end of the year, the Cosmopolitan Club will have over two hundred members, and this heterogeneous collection of people of thirty-four nationalities will be as large and as influential as almost any body or any faculty on the campus.

Women's Debating Union

At this afternoon's meeting of the Women's Debating Union Co-eds will discuss their answers to questions such as the following: What did you expect of the University? Did it measure up to your expectations? If not, why not? Could your High School training have been better planned? How can new students be helped to adjust themselves to a change from school to university? Should there be more contact between women students of the first and upper years?

All these questions and others will be considered by the Co-ed Forum to be held in the Common Room of R.V.C. at 4.30 this afternoon.

Ingredients of Christian Living

Canon F. H. Wilkinson B.A., B.D., Rector of St. James the Apostle Church, addressed the McGill I.V.C.F. yesterday at their second luncheon of the new year. He spoke briefly on some ingredients of Christian living.

First, sincerity is demanded and prized among all men. From the Christian heritage that implies whole-heartedness and singleness of mind, "If the eye be single the body shall be full of light." In better, certainly is another requirement. Christ spoke as one having authority. All who live with him possess this assurance.

Far from reactionary, Christians must possess a living orthodoxy which proceeds from abundant faith. The Person, the Nature, the Power and the Purpose of God is revealed in the light of the living Christ. As Christians and citizens of a democracy, Canon Wilkinson said, wisdom and knowledge is characterized by proper attitudes. We are a Society of Friends. Just as the faith of Christ is extended to all individuals so the rights, privileges and responsibilities of democracy. What one is as an individual, in sincerity, assurance, faith and perspective, determines true Christian living.

Tid-bits from the College Papers

"It is time then that students realize that they must keep up a reasonable academic standard, or they will be considered of greater use to the country in the armed services."

The McGill Daily

"The last game resulted in some slam bang-up shynny. Dents and St. Mike's were quite evenly matched and it was just a question of who would outlast the other. Several arguments added to the tension. Dents started the scoring with a Crouch from Castaldi tally."
